Peter Miller

Peter Miller has been a part of Raider Nation for the past seventeen years. His dedication to the fine arts has caused the program to blossom. He has worked with the intermediate, high school and advanced orchestras producing high quality productions. Mr. Miller, the fine arts supervisor, built the program of string instruments up to 200 students; the largest in the state. Along with being highly dedicated to the fine arts program at Rutland, he also was involved in several other productions. He has been involved with several different organizations including Lakes Region, National School Orchestra Organization, American String Teachers Association, Cape Cod Youth Orchestra, Board of the Crossroads Arts Council, and many others. However, Mr. Miller not only works for Rutland City Public Schools, he also teaches at Castleton University and gives private lessons. The impact he has had on his students will never fade because of his dedication to each musician. The fine arts program will miss him dearly.
